President's Note's

Congratulations to Lori Branson and her 2010 Auction Committee for a superb job. Thanks also to all the Guild members who donated quilts or helped finish quilts. Everyone in the Guild working together makes the huge job easier. Ellen Hernandez, is already working on Auction 2012 so let's start planning our contribution to the 2012 Auction.

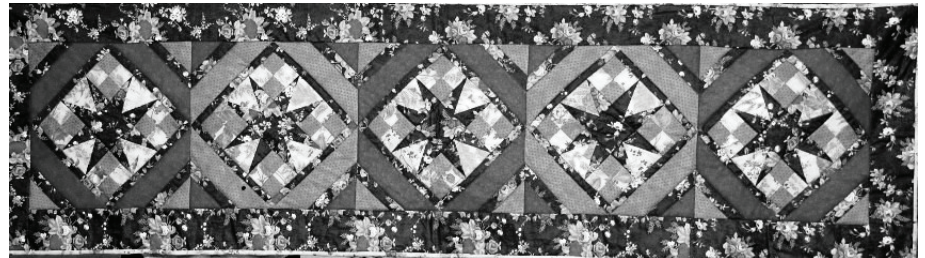

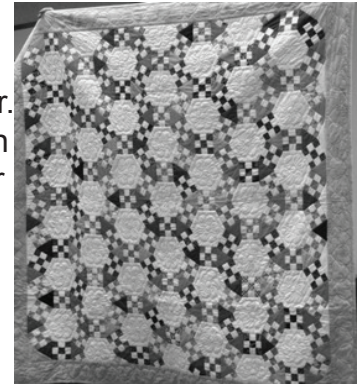

The Welcoming Committee will be giving guests brightly colored name tags. If you see a guest, please take time to introduce yourself and make them feel welcome. We want the guest to have a great time, remember the friendly members they met and join our Guild.

The Guild got a newsletter from Roy Maas' Youth Alternatives. Several items were on their "Wish List", twin bed sheets, light bedspreads, pillows, pillow cases, art supplies and sport equipment. If you are donating items, leave them in the foyer at Guild meeting and Charlene Carroll will load her pick up and deliver the items.

My bee did a four day retreat at Emily's Quilt Haus outside of Stonewall. You know it was built for quilters when each outlet has its own circuit. Finished three state flower star blocks, at this rate will be done by 2030 instead of 2040.

Am still waiting for the Challenge 2011 lightning bolt of inspiration.

Garage Sale

It's time for quilt studio/sewing room clean out and what is one person's junk is another's treasurer. The Guild biannual Garage Sale will take the place of the October program.

If you want a table please call Mary McCarthy and $5.00 will reserve a table. Remember this is a quilting related Garage Sale, yarn, floss ok but not the 5 mismatched coffee mugs.

If you just want to clean a few items out, you can donate them to the Guild table. Call Charlotte Keener to make arrangements. Please do this at least a week BEFORE the Guild meeting. Charlotte needs time to get everything priced.

All Guild services will be available before and after the meeting. Sales cannot be conducted before the beginning of the Garage Sale.

Brown Bag

There is still a brown bag left from that project. If you participated and didn't get anything back check with Mary McCarthy at the Program Table in October or give her a call, 679-8464.

Sunshine: Dale Flashberg announced that the quilt, A San Antonio Fiesta, which she won at the 2007 GSAQG raffle, has been selected as one of 200 quilts that will be in the Fall 2011 book Lone Stars: Texas Quilts Today 1986-2011. Thanks to all who worked on this award winning quilt.

Sherry Durringer's quilt, 52 Pickup, will be touring through next August with the Hoffman Challenge quilts. Sherry was also delighted to welcome a new grandson on August 29th, Gerald Phoenix Franks.

Shadow: We are deeply saddened to have lost Betty Tope August 29th. She was vacationing with her husband, Bill, and passed away unexpectedly. Her smiling face and generous heart will be missed. Donations may be made in Betty's name to Susan G. Komen for the Cure, PO Box 6678, SA 78209, komensanantonio.org.

Cathy Baisley is recovering from a 2nd eye surgery and Joan Durringer is improving after a post-op infection.

Pieces of the Past: Lone Star

Ellen Hernandez

Many quilts from the early 1800s were made in the medallion style, a central striking design with many 'borders.' The pieced six or eight pointed star shape was a favorite which required more precise cutting and sewing in order for the star to lay flat. Every tiny diamond had bias edges, and the dreaded Y seams were required to set the corner blocks. In England, this pieced star pattern was called Mathematical Star. Other names included Star of Bethlehem, Star of the East, Morning Star, and Lone Star. Variations include Blazing Stars, Touching Stars, and Broken Star.

Mary Betsy Toten's Rising Star quilt, now in the Smithsonian, is dated 1835. It was used for the first RJR collection of reproduction fabrics from the museum in the early 1990s. Mary's quilt is an exquisite example of carefully sewn diamonds, 648 to be exact. Eleven roller-printed cottons were systematically arranged for color placement. Intricate appliquéd flowers and birds cut from chintz lie between the star points, and the stems and bows are only 3/32" wide.

The star pattern was long a favorite of Native Americans. Over time, their beaded, carved and painted stars were integrated as quilted stars. The earliest photo of a Native American star quilt is in Chief Red Cloud's home from 1890 in South Dakota. Today, these Morning Star quilts seem to have replaced the honored buffalo blanket and are often presented to others on special occasions.

There is a Texas Lone Star quilt story of note from 1870 in Williamson County. Acker Lindsey's star diamonds are only 1.5" long and 3/4" wide. Additionally, she added over 120 LeMoyné square blocks, each finished at 2-3/4", alternating with solid blocks to complete the layout. Can you imagine hand piecing that many 16 piece, tiny LeMoyné squares, much less the bias edged tiny diamonds? You can see a picture of the masterpiece in Texas Quilts and Quilters: A Lone Star Legacy.

A San Antonio Fiesta

About six weeks ago I received a phone call from Quilt, Inc. (thought it was going to be about a class I'd signed up for at the Houston Quilt Show), the lady wanted to talk to Dale Flashberg about her quilt, A San Antonio Fiesta. Gave her Dale's numbers, dying with curiosity, waited to hear from Dale.

Dale, a Guild member, had won the 2007 Quilt Show raffle quilt, A San Antonio Fiesta. Two years ago Houston had asked for traditional Texas Guild award winning quilts, Dale sent photos and entry form. A San Antonio Fiesta did not meet their criteria for traditional but they keep the photo and entry form.

The phone call informed Dale, A San Antonio Fiesta was a finalist in consideration for a book. She sent the quilt and a list of all Guild members who had worked on the quilt to Houston.

On September 13th Dale was informed that A San Antonio Fiesta was selected as one of 200 Texas quilts for inclusion in the book, Lone Stars III: Texas Quilts Today, 1986-2011. The book will be published by UT Press in Fall 2011. A special exhibit at the 2011 International Quilt Show will include A San Antonio Fiesta.

To every Guild member with their name on the label, thank you, thank you, thank you, we made a great quilt.
