President's Letter

Wintery good wishes to you. May your February be filled with fun and fellowship with quilters. In spite of the threatened ice and sleet, we had 66 members present at our meeting.....Yeaaaaaa!! We didn't know who or how many would arrive. That included 3 new members -- Michelle Anderson, Gail Darling, and Pamela Wright. Welcome :)

Mary McCarthy told us about our guild's participation in the "Save Our Stories" program that she and Ellen Hernandez are leading. The photos and interviews they do are filed in our US Library of Congress...to be shared with present and future friends and families. Those recordings add depth for quilters everywhere..... think about it. Thank you, Mary and Ellen, for bringing this added dimension to our guild.

Look ahead to February's program ---Bonnie Hunter will inspire you to make more scrap quilts. Her workshops should be fun.

Have you finished that project for this new year, as planned? I hope so....we want to see it and hear about it at our meeting on the 14th. See you then.

Sincerely, Ida

GSAQG Board Meeting Minutes January 5, 2015

The meeting was called to order at 3:02pm by President Ida Blankenship. Attendees were Karen Lambdin, Cindy Shutt, Sherry Durringer, Rebecca Cook, Jeana Kubik, Carol Bryant, and Dea Jae Shore.

President – Ida asked for Calico rose nominations. She held up an example of a new embroidered calico rose that she would like to make in the future. Ida currently makes the calico roses each month.

There were 3 more vehicles full of items hauled from the Coggins estate. Ida asked for help organizing and preparing items for sale at the guild table and also other venues such as online sales. We will continue to explore the possibilities.

Secretary – 2 calls to the guild phone, one of which asked for someone to repair an old quilt. A motion was made for an announcement requesting quilters who will repair or hand quilt to pay for an ad in the newsletter for our referrals. The motion was seconded. The motion failed after the vote.

Treasurer – Checking and savings balance - $74,413.18. CD reports due this weekend will change this number.

Cindy Shutt made a list of those who paid dues for 2015, there were fewer than 200 at this time.

1st VP – the raffle quilt is entered into the Dallas Quilt Show in March. The rules for our quilt show are in the January newsletter. There will be some entry forms available at the meetings, but members will be encouraged to print out their own.

A change of venue for the summer retreat was discussed, but the contract is paid for this summer, so it will have to be decided for the 2016 retreat.

2nd VP Dea Jae Shore bought some more memory sticks for officers and chairpersons.

Ida is still working on the new form for tax donation receipts. There is a form on the website for officers to print out forms to purchase guild items tax free.

3rd VP – Rebecca Cook reminded the board of the mini-retreat on Mar. 27-28. The Bonnie Hunter workshop is full.

There are 2 new quilt stands in the storage unit.

Rebecca would like feedback for the choice of Charlotte Angotti workshop.

The August program was discussed as it may be too soon for a quilt show preview as planned. Maybe another workday could be planned for this day.

5th VP – Sherry Durringer detailed some of her

Bright Hopes

The Bright Hopes Committee would like to say THANK YOU to everyone who made quilts, tops, totes, and donated fabric stash this year. During 2014 we've donated over 570 quilts and 340 totes to the San Antonio Children's Shelter. What a wonderful gift of love for all those children!

As we challenge ourselves to donate quilts during the new year please keep the following in mind...

- These quilts are meant for children
- Acceptable fabrics are cotton, cotton blends, flannel, minky, fleece
- Rayon, sheer, silky, and other fabrics meant for clothing and home decor are not appropriate
- Holiday, religious, and adult themed fabrics are not appropriate

Looking forward to more fun quilts in 2015!
The Bright Hopes Committee

Community Outreach Reports
4th Quarter 2014

The Community Outreach committees of your GSAQG were very busy in October, November and December of 2014, with a total of 1,665.5 service hours. I won't print the entire reports in this article, but here is a summary of each group's activities: Institute of Texan Cultures: 592 hours interacting with visitors and working on three quilts; Storybooks: 32.5 hours working in the storage unit and delivering quilts to area schools where 22,240 students participated in the program; Quilt Alliance: 60 hours collecting oral histories and transcribing those tapes; Bright Hopes: 924 hours making it possible to deliver 120 quilts to the SA Children's Shelter; Quilt Angels: 32 hours on the Memorial quilt and 25 hours on the Trauma quilt. If you've made a resolution to get more involved in the guild, take some time at the next meeting to visit one of the service tables. Carol Steely has kits made up for Bright Hopes quilts and totes, or you can donate your original top or quilt for the children at the Shelter. Linda Kirk has storybooks that need quilts to go with them. She has also issued a Challenge for 2015 to construct 14" quilts to accompany Gyleen Fitzgerald's haikus. If you are interested in hand quilting at the Institute, see Kay Allison or Cathy Wallace about application info. Why not think about volunteering as a backup interviewer for the Save Our Stories project – see Ellen Hernandez or Mary McCarthy. Barbara Sumlin and Janet Miller have regular workdays for the Memorial and Trauma quilt projects. Kitty Janiga is looking for mentors to help with a special request from a local elementary school. And finally, I'm asking for a volunteer to machine quilt a top for KLRN's annual Blazing Gavels auction this June. Please give me a call or see me at the next meeting for more info.

2.2015 Pieces of the Past, 58: Poston Internment Camp Quilt by Ellen Hernandez

In the 1940s, fourth grade students at Poston Relocation

Camp for the Japanese in Arizona cross stitched their names on strips that were added to a quilt.

The students of Masako Hirata, a Univ. of Redlands sociology graduate, were studying pioneer America and wanted to make a quilt of that era. The WWII internees had to use fabric they brought with them, and scraps. The white border was added later.

Over 100,000 residents on the West Coast were of Japanese heritage, with most in the Los Angeles area. Two-thirds of them were American citizens. The US government feared retaliation and theft of sensitive information and began a relocation plan. The coastal Japanese were requested to move further inland, a plan that failed and was replaced with registration and mandatory relocation to one of ten camps. About half of those sent to camps were children. Many families lived in the camps for four years.

After the war when Masako Hirata was released from Poston Camp, she worked in NY and Illinois. In 1949 she was the first teacher of Japanese descent hired in San Bernardino. She taught there for 37 years. In the 1980s she received the US official Letter of Apology and Redress. Her students' vibrant quilt has survived to pass on the story of 'Strength and Diversity' via a Smithsonian traveling exhibit and is owned by the National Japanese-American Historical Society.
