Happy Spring!

Our Guild has thrived over the last 38 years because of the dedication of its members and its members' passions. It is so nice to be part of an organization that cares so much about its craft and community. But I've noticed over the past few years that the same people are stepping up again and again to carry the mantle of leadership. They are wonderful. They give the Guild their all. But I know we have many potential leaders- in-waiting in the wings and we need them to step up now! In particular, I'd like to invite some new members to head the Quilt Projects Committee. If you have ever flirted with the idea of volunteering, I urge you to go ahead and give it a whirl.

Jean Hardies is keeping the Auction on track with the aid of a few helpers. She can use your help, too. All sorts of spots are open in Jean's books, some requiring just an hour or so. It takes many hands for the auction to be successful – make two of them yours!

See you at the meeting. Until then remember, "A smile is a curve that sets everything straight." - - - Mary

GSAQG Board Meeting Minutes March 5, 2018

Mary McCarthy, President, called the meeting to order at 2:30 pm at Elaine Staller's house. In attendance were Elaine Staller, Ina Ramirez, Janet Miller, Leti Zavala, Barbara Sumlin, Dea Jae Shore, Sylvia Jolet, Karen Nanos, and Lyn Komada.

The February Board Minutes were approved as published.

President – Mary McCarthy.

- Quarterly reports - due next month.
- Future board meeting location. We will meet at Igo Library.

President Pro Tem – Dea Jae Shore.

- Search for New Premises. Suitable location still being sought. Specifications for what we need will be published in the newsletter and emailed to members for their consideration.

Treasurer – Karen Nanos.

- Total Guild funds on hand are $61,100.75.

1st VP for Special Events – Elaine Staller.

- Mini Retreat is coming up on March 16-17.
- Houston Quilt Show Bus Trip - 2nd week in November. This is the Guild's 10th bus trip to the show. Need to see if St. Andrew will let us change meeting dates that month since it conflicts with the guild meeting.
- Quilt Show Location. Various locations were discussed.

2nd VP for Special Events – Ina Ramirez.

- Nothing to report.

3rd VP for Programs – Janet Miller.

- Upcoming activities were discussed.

4th VP for Special Events – Leti Zavala.

- Nothing to report.

5th VP for Community Services – Barbara Sumlin.

- Committees are turning in their quarterly reports.
- Kitty Janiga wrote a community education note for the newsletter.

Parliamentarian – Sylvia Jolet.

- Candidates are needed for the 5th VP for Community Services and Secretary positions.

The meeting adjourned at 3:06 pm.

Submitted by Carolyn Komada, Secretary

GSAQG Meeting Minutes

March 10, 2018

Mary McCarthy, President, called the meeting to order at 10:00 am.

President – Mary McCarthy.

- The February General Meeting minutes were approved as published.
- Board meetings are open to anyone. We meet at the Igo Branch of the San Antonio Public Library at 2:30 pm on the first Monday of the month.

Treasurer – Karen Nanos.

- Total Guild funds on hand at the end of February are $61,100.75.

President Pro Tem – Dea Jae Shore.

- Search for New Premises. We continue to look for a new venue. Target area was discussed and members were encouraged to check with their church, employer, or other organization if their location would suit us. An email will be sent out describing meeting location requirements. Contact Mary McCarthy by March 27 if you have a potential location.

1st VP for Special Events – Elaine Staller. Committees & activities reported:

- Stitching Heaven sent some quilting cruise brochures if anyone is interested.
- Mini Retreat on Mar 16-17 has 3 open spots, and will be at the Encino Park Community Center on Friday from noon-9 pm and Saturday from 8 am-4 pm.
- Summer retreat signups are open.
- Auction. Jean Hardies, Auction Chair, reported that the Auction Committee would meet next at Jim's at Fredricksburg & 410, on Saturday, March 24 at 1pm. Anyone can attend, and auction volunteers are still needed for activities including the runway committee, baggers, auction verifiers, storage, and cashiers.
Kitty Janiga reported that she is still collecting items for the Silent Auction. Contact her if you would like to make items for the Silent Auction at the Guild Work Day in May or if you have ideas about items to make. Fabric will be provided.

2nd VP for Information – Ina Ramirez.

- Email. Let Ina know if you are not receiving an email when newsletter is available to be read online.
- Membership directory update. Dea Jae Shore reported that an email would go out with corrections for members already listed in directory, and an attachment listing new members and late renewals for you to print to add to your directory.

3rd VP for Programs – Janet Miller.

- Lost and found. A fleece jacket was left at the last meeting.
- ROWing Robin. A few more people are needed to complete a 4th team for the ROWing Robin.
- Upcoming activities were discussed.

4th VP for Services – Letty Zavala

- Quilt Project Committee (QPC) Golden Carrot. There were two drawings held at this meeting; the winners were Sylvia Jolet & Ruth Felty. 47 blocks were turned in today.
- QPC Block. The new block is called Garden Gems and is the first block Sister Roberta selected for QPC.
- Quilt Project Finishing Committee (QPFC). Ida Blankenship showed a quilt backed with Texas Tech fabric that will be finished and go to auction. QPFC meets on the 4th Wednesday each month from 11am – 1pm at Jean Hardies' house.

5th VP for Community Outreach - Barbara Sumlin

- Storybook Quilts. Linda Kirk reported that they would like to add some new schools to the program for the Fall, and has fliers to be distributed if you know of any interested schools. This semester only 16 schools utilized the program. The program was also given its first quilt that is not featured in a book but utilizes a preprinted fabric for a character in the book. The book was How the Grinch Stole Christmas, and Cathy Wallace made the accompanying quilt. Members can also check out storybook quilts during summertime.
- Community Education. Contact Kitty Janiga if you are interested in either volunteering on March 22nd to talk about quilts from 9am-11:30am with homeschool classes, or volunteering at the Mini-Maker Fair at the Central Library on March 24 from 9:30am-4:00pm. Volunteers do not have to stay the entire time, and the activity will be to make coasters with attendees.

There were 136 members and 3 guests in attendance, and $3.10 collected in nametag fines. Two new members joined at the meeting. The meeting adjourned at 10:34 a.m. Submitted by Carolyn Komada, Secretary.

AUCTION

Are you every going to make that?!!! 5 years ago it looked so neat. Now, consider donating it to the silent auction/boutique. Also any new tools that you have never used, patterns? Items should be in new condition. Small handmade items would be wonderful to have. Hopefully people will be looking for Christmas gifts and what better place to shop!

They can be brought to the meeting or I will pick them up. Questions -- please call, text or email at 210-710-1909 or kittyandernie@earthlink.net. Thank you, Kitty Janiga

4.18 Pieces of the Past, 96: Feedsacks, Part 1 by Ellen Hernandez

Information used in this article constitutes a 'fair use' of material in accordance with Title 17 U.S.C. Section 107 of the US Copyright Law. It is distributed without profit for news commenting, reporting, and teaching. For a list of references, contact the author.

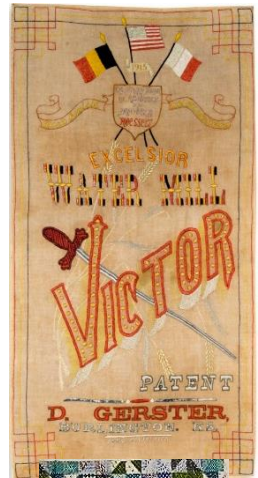

Feed, flour, sugar, seeds, rice, and fertilizer were sold in wooden boxes, barrels, and tins in the early 19th Century. The invention of the sewing machine and a commercial lock stitch machine in 1860 led to the transition of using feed sacks for supplies, first made with burlap. They were called chicken linen, hen house linen, and pretties. The lock stitch, made with a one thread chain stitch, released or unraveled easily making emptying the bag convenient. One seamstress could sew 200 half-barrel sized bags a day. As cotton became abundant and cheap, it replaced burlap. A typical chicken farmer might use 14 sacks of feed per week.

The George Plant Milling company of St. Louis, MO produced red gingham sacks in 1925 coined 'Gingham Girl Flour.' They were so popular, a series in other colors were dubbed 'Gingham Mother..Baby...Queen.' There were over 30 sack mills, including the large companies Chase, Bemis, Fulton, and Percy Kent.

Percy Kent is credited with making dress prints for bags in the 1930s. Kent's Cloth was made to recognize the newly forming UN with wartime symbols and three bad eggs - Hitler, Mussolini, and Tojo in a frying pan 'Keep 'em frying!' Kent also hired European artists and had a Disney contract. Richard Peek of the Kent Company introduced the pastel palette of solids linked to the Depression Era – pink, lavender, orchid, tea rose, peach, yellow, rose, blue, tan, green. Most sacks included a printed logo or label from the company. There were many tips and tricks to removing this ink prior to repurposing the sack: lard, lye soap, kerosene, or Fels Naptha soap. Some brand names were printed in removable, water-soluble vegetable ink. In the 1920s paper labels appeared which could be soaked off. Ideas for using the sacks included aprons, dresses, children's clothing, dishtowels, and curtains. A monthly newsletter, 'Out of the Bag', was published in the 1920s which included tips from The Household Science Institute for feedsacks.

During WWI, the future president, Herbert Hoover, founded the Commission for Relief in Belgium (CRB). The primary item sent to Belgium was flour in cotton sacks, almost 1 billion pounds. Fearing confiscation and use by the Germans in the production of ammunition, the CRB controlled the distribution and location of the sacks. Many were recycled by the Belgians who often over embroidered the printed mill stamps. They sent some of the decorated sacks back to the US as a thank you, and some were sold to raise funds for war relief.

Probably 20,000 designs were used for feedsacks including cloth toy patterns printed with non-poisonous ink – Rag Darlings, Sailor Boy, and Sea Island Sugar Dolls. There were puppets, animals for pillows, Christmas stockings, and cheater cloth for those not wanting to piece their quilts....to be continued in Part 2.

SEARCHING FOR A NEW VENUE

The Greater San Antonio Quilt Guild was formed in 1980 as a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that promotes the skill of quilting by doing community service, quilt shows, and other functions relating to keeping the art of quilting alive. Our current membership is over 200. We meet on the 2nd Saturday of every month from about 9 am - 4 pm. Our current location is at a Presbyterian church whose bylaws have changed on the 1st of the year which conflicts with services we provide to our members, as well as an increase in our monthly rental fee.

During our business meeting on any given Saturday, we have several committees that offer things for sale to our members, such as used books, magazines, and the sale of raffle tickets for our fundraising events as well as inviting other area guilds to sell tickets for theirs. We also have national teachers come to a few meetings a year and conduct presentations as well as hold classes after our meeting, and sometimes on the Friday before. A condition of having these popular and knowledgeable teachers is their requirement to sell their books, patterns, and supplies during a class. The place we meet now has told us we cannot have any sales or money exchange hands in the meeting hall anymore.

Our current meeting space is about 4000 square feet. We can have up to 150 members attend a meeting, but the usual average is about 120. We have several committees that set up around the meeting space to offer outreach and services to the members so they need about 15 tables.

Would your facility be able to accommodate us? What would the rate be? Can we arrange for Dea Jea Shore or another Venue Committee member meet with you?

A Quilter's Delight.

Congratulations to our Golden Carrot Winners, Sylvia Jolet and Ruth Felty. We appreciate all your help to make our Guild a success. We're looking forward to Work Day on May 12th. We're bringing projects and prizes, and ask you to bring your sewing machine and plans to stay. Sign up so your lunch can be provided. This is a once a year tradition, and it's a lot of fun. If you've taken a kit from the QPC table, please return it. We want them back, no matter what. Thanks for all your help. Gail & Nancy
