PROGRAMS

Congrats to our Golden Carrot winners Evelyn Santoni and Donna Anderson. We appreciate them, and all of the people that turned in a total of 50 blocks at the April meeting. We're thrilled with the excellent job you all are doing on the blocks. Even the backs look beautiful. We're bringing lots of projects to the May Work Day for a chance to further Guild projects. There will be several helpers to get you started, also lots of Work Day Awards to keep things fun. Please bring your sewing machine, and if you have any questions, you can call Gail Dickman. Thanks!

May. Guild Work Day and Guild Birthday celebration. Lunch will be provided. If you want to help machine quilt Bright Hopes quilts, Barbara Sumlin and Glenda Harris will help you get started. This is not a class. Glenda will be working on flip and sew or quilt as you go and Barbara will be doing quilting with your walking foot (No free motion). You will need your sewing machine with walking foot and guide, #90 machine needle, and machine quilting thread (not waxed or hand quilting thread).

June. Janice Liggett, 2017 Ethel Howey Grant winner, will be teaching the classes. Friday's class, "What Thread Can Do For You or What Can You Do With Thread". You will trace a simple picture (sample is a cat) and use thread to color the picture. Saturday's class, "Embellish Large Print Fabric With Threads." You do not need to be an artist to take these classes. Classes are free but you will need to pay for the class to hold your spot. If you attend the class you will receive a refund.

July. Guild Auction Committee
If you want to sign up for a class and can't make the meeting, contact Janet Miller, 3rd VP for Programs, 210 492-7684 or jjmiller@satx.rr.com.

MAY WORKDAY---

QUILTING WITH THE DOMESTIC MACHINE

Would you like to learn or have practice quilting quilts with your domestic machine? Check out a quilt that is put together or needs to be put together and bring the following supplies:

*Domestic machine, foot pedal, power cord, and machine manual.

*Size #80 and #90 quilting needle

* Cotton thread or polyester thread - must have bobbins to match the top thread. (a variety of color would be nice to be able to complement the quilt on which one is working) Be sure to bring a full or almost full thread spool as quilting uses lots of thread---so, no, nearly empty spools.

*Walking foot for your machine and quilting guide (fits in the back of the walking foot)

* Stitches: Straight stitch or (Optional: wavy line, etc. is nice to have)

* Tools to mark at least two lines on the quilt in each direction (chalk, FiXon Pen, etc.)

*24 inch Quilter's ruler

*Quilter's Pins, scissors/nips, rotary cutter, point turner, and any other notions you think you need for your machine. (Open toe foot is nice, but general foot for your machine should work)

* A GREAT POSITIVE ATTITUDE.

Thanks, Barbara A. Sumlin

Congratulation! Door Prize Winners,
Diane, Maritza & Marleen

5.18 Pieces of the Past, 97: Feedsacks, Part 2 by Ellen Hernandez

Information used in this article constitutes a 'fair use' of material in accordance with Title 17 U.S.C. Section 107 of the US Copyright Law. It is distributed without profit for news commenting, reporting, and teaching. For a list of references, contact the author.

In the early 1940s, feedsack sizes were standardized by the US War Production Board (WPB)- 5 lb bag gave 1/3 yd; 50 lb @ 34 x 38 inches; 100 lb about a yard at 39 x 46 inches. During WWII there was no rationing of feedsacks. Re-use was considered patriotic. From a 1944 newspaper - "Best of all is the patriotic spirit you show when you salvage fabrics. The housewife who converts cotton bags into the many useful items they are capable of becoming under the magic of willing hands and minds not only serves herself, but conserves essential fabrics for her country." The Textile Bag Manufacturers

Association slogan was "A yard saved, was a yard gained for victory!"

In an effort to preserve a supply of US fabric to clothe the 11 million men and women serving, in 1942 the WPB issued Order L-85 with specific instructions and limitations regarding the production of new clothing including the length of jackets and dresses, and the number of buttons that could be used. Recycling feedsacks became extremely important in this era of rationing, shortages, and regulations.

By the 1950s less expensive paper packaging was replacing feedsacks.

Marilyn Monroe posed in a potato sack in 1952 to show that any sack could be glamorous and to encourage continued used of feedsacks, now called 'cotton bags.' Simplicity and other pattern companies designed cotton bag specific patterns for the homemaker. A spoof of this tradition was made for the 'I Love Lucy' television show. Lucy and Ethel wanted to buy expensive Paris fashions, but their husbands tricked them into wearing horse feedsacks. The twist is that after the women discover the ploy and buy real Paris gowns, they see Parisian models the next day wearing feedsacks. (In 2002 Barbie wore a sack outfit imitating Lucy.)

There were many cotton bag sewing contests in the late '50s and early '60s by the National Cotton Council to promote cotton sacks. This winning dress by Dorothy Overall of KS won 2nd prize in 1959 (now displayed in the Smithsonian.) It was lined with black organdy, and machine quilted with silver thread. Most US bag production ended by the 1960s.

Volkmar Wywiol established the FlourWorld Museum in Wittenburg, Germany after stumbling across a washed-up flour sack in Dubai in 1998. He regards the sacks as works of art and pays tribute to millers around the globe. There are 3400 sacks from 130 countries cataloged and displayed. Many are historical such as sacks from the Berlin Airlift.

SA Library Mini Maker Faire

The SA Library Mini Maker Faire was held on March 24, 2018 and was a lot of fun. An estimated 1200 people attended the function and the guild members helped at least 100 participants make four patch coasters.

Four sewing machines were set up and many participants sewed their own with the assistance of guild members Frances Contreras, Donna Anderson, Carole Steele, Rita Wright, Kitty Janiga, and Pamela Hoelscher.

Thank you to our wonderful guild members who came and helped make this a great faire.
