Scrap Quilts & Organizing for Scrap Quilting

Remember to bring to the meeting

- Name tag (wear it)
- Library books, & DVDs
- QPC projects
- Bright Hopes quilts
- Smiles for everyone

President's Letter

The auction is over! As I write this, I haven't been informed of the totals but all the quilts were sold and it looked as though the boutique and silent auction were doing a good business. I had the winning bid on a dozen quilts whose average price was about $238. I certainly got a bargain but did I pay what they were really worth?

Now the guild's attention turns to the 2023 Show. The chair, Sandy Doyle, will be looking for people to sit on her committee. She will also be looking for that perennial necessity – volunteers. Sandy will have important information to share at every guild meeting so please listen well. We need to have a blockbuster show!

Brita Nelson returns this month (in person) to teach two classes. Sandra Lowell has the information on those. Next month elections will be held and the budget will be voted on. The Community Quilt Angels will present red, white and blue quilts to two of our members who served in the armed forces. And there will be an informative talk on the Days for Girls program, a charitable cause all women can identify with.

See you all soon-- Mary

Congratulations Winners!

Pieces of the Past, 150: 1938 Arkansas Signature Quilt, by Ellen Hernandez

Who-eee! This is number 150 of my researched articles, going back to February 2010. This month I am going to follow the rabbit hole down one of my own historical journeys. Enjoy.

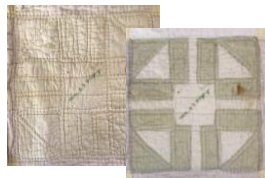

In 2016 a faded, deteriorating signature quilt was given to me by a guild member who was aware of my interest in quilt history. She had purchased it in the 1980s in an Arkansas thrift shop and was ready to pass it on. Some fabrics were completely missing or faded, some fragile and splitting. What was most exciting about this quilt was the embroidered date "1938" and the twenty signatures (see label below.) The pattern is a 1934 Kansas City Star Friendship Quilt. With no provenance of this quilt, I set out to discover its history, and determine the best way to preserve it.

I spent many hours searching family records online through sites such as ancestry.com and family search. Using the most unusual name, Fellie Sanderlin, I searched the 1930 and 1940 Census records. In 1940 Fellie was living in Michigan BUT was in Des Arc, Prairie CO, Arkansas in 1935. From there I searched all the names in or near Prairie CO in 1930 and 1940. I was able to narrow them all to Arkansas, most farm families, including "Lydia" who I believed to be Ora Walls' daughter. From there I moved forward to locate living descendants of the women and found grand/great-grandchildren of four of the quilters. They provided insight and information about the Johnson Chapel Community where the quilters probably met in the 1930s. Des Arc, a small town sixty miles east of Little Rock, suffered several severe floods in the early 1900s. Combined with the struggles of the Depression, these women most likely made utility quilts for each other, town families, and refugees escaping the floods. The surprising news is that some of the family members own other quilts similar to this one, and they hope to gather at the annual Johnson Chapel reunion and share their quilts and stories.

Stabilizing and repairing the quilt was laborious. With a herringbone hand stitch, I secured multiple areas where the fabrics were torn or splitting. The most difficult fabric to deal with was the light lavender lattice which was almost threadbare. After extensive searching I failed to find any close match, and even tried tinting vintage thin dishtowels, unsuccessfully. I used a combination of over-appliqueing a lavender/gray muslin and top-stitching lavender tulle over the most severely damaged strips. Several other examples of repair include:

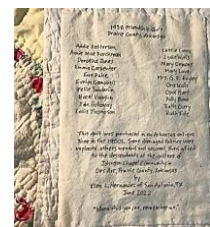

Mrs. Hayley's completely faded fabric was covered with a light green tulle; Evelyn Campbell's disintegrated pink fabric was replaced with a vintage pink cotton; and I photocopied an intact piece of Lydia Wall's quilt to cover some damaged pieces. I hand stitched off-white tulle to the entire binding, and of course added a label.

Against my better judgement, I carefully soaked and air dried the quilt which resulted in some new tears and fading of my photocopied fabric and a replacement piece I had hand colored.

Where is the quilt now? As I had originally planned, I was able to return the quilt to descendants of the original quilters, and was successful in helping them set up a type of "Sisterhood of the Travelling 'Quilt.'" The first recipient, living near Des Arc, will keep the quilt and share it as families request, and then will pass it on at the annual Johnson Chapel reunion held the first Saturday in May. It was both a challenge and a joy to work on this vintage treasure. It is still in poor condition, showing its age and well-loved use. Somehow, I feel close to the quilters, recalling their skills and generosity as I stitched where they had stitched over eighty years ago. Oh, and I wrote a booklet with many more details

Hello,

Our non-profit organization, Wrap Ukraine With Quilts, will be one of the featured charities at the Quilt Festival in Houston this year.

We would like all quilters in Texas to know that they can help Ukrainian refugees by bringing quilts to donate at our booth at the Festival.

About our organization:

In March of this year, Gina Halladay and Beth Hawkins (both pattern designers in the quilt industry) began an effort to send quilts of comfort and warmth to the refugees flooding the borders from Ukraine. Now 6 months later, 10,000 quilts have been donated from all 50 states and Canada! Over 9,000 of those quilts have already been shipped and/or delivered to refugee mothers and children in various refugee centers, orphanages, and other housing locations in Poland, Moldova, Romania, and into the safer parts of Ukraine.

Each donated quilt is inventoried, tagged, and tracked to its destination. The quiltmaker can choose to leave their name and hometown, and a message of comfort to the recipient. The recipient can then scan the code on the tag, and send a message in return to the quiltmaker, through our website (email addresses are kept private). We post photos daily on our social media, showing the process of getting the quilts into the hands of refugees. Often quiltmakers can spot their quilts wrapped around a child or family in the photos that are posted!

Can you let your guild members know that they have a unique opportunity to drop off donated quilts if they are attending the Quilt Festival in Houston this year? We would greatly appreciate it! The need for warmth, comfort, and love from overseas is great, and with winter coming, we would like to increase our shipments of quilts for Ukrainian refugees!

- Handmade quilts of any size are needed. They can be quilted or tied. Fleece, crocheted, infant swaddle flannels are accepted too.
- Quilts can be registered on our website at WrapUkraineWithQuilts.com if the quiltmaker would like to send a personal message and tag their quilt before dropping off. (We can also do that for them in our booth).
- Houston Quilt Festival, November 3-6, 2022 at the George Brown Convention center in downtown Houston. More info here.
- More information on our social media: Instagram@hellocottonsand Facebook page HelloCottons.

Please let us know if you would like more information for your guild.

Thank you for helping us to help others in need.

TEXAS QUILT MUSEUM
History in the Making

Deborah Bradley Named New Managing Director of the Texas Quilt Museum!

LA GRANGE, TEXAS—October 3, 2022—Karey Bresenhan and Nancy O'Bryant Puentes, co-founders of the Texas Quilt Museum, announced today that Deborah Bradley has been named the Museum's new Managing Director. She replaces Julie Maffei, who had been with the Museum since its 2011 opening and recently retired.

"We are thrilled that Deborah will now lead the team at this truly unique treasure and amazing art destination in the state of Texas," Bresenhan and Puentes said in a joint statement.

"We know that she will bring a lot of energy, enthusiasm, and fresh ideas to the Museum as well as its exhibits and expanded programs. She'll also strengthen ties with the city and people of La Grange and other local businesses and institutions."

Deborah Bradley, the new Managing Director of the Texas Quilt Museum.

Bradley herself says. "I am happy to have joined this incredible icon to share the art of quilting with the world. I am excited to pursue opportunities to take the Texas Quilt Museum to the next level...there's something for everyone here. Even if you don't quilt!"

She also notes that she's looking forward to working with "the fabulous docents" from the Colorado Valley Quilt Guild and beyond, who provide indispensable guidance, knowledge, and quilting know-how to visitors from all across the world.

Bradley is definitely a “local.” She graduated from La Grange High School and is the daughter of the late, Jeanne and Ken Blanchette. Bradley lived in Houston for 12 years after college while honing her skills in Program Development, Event Management, Interior Decorating, Graphic Design and Marketing. Bradley returned to her roots in 2002 with her husband, John and son, Asher, in tow. She is best known as “The Wedding Planner” in these parts, through her professional event production company, Deborah Bradley Events & Designs, LLC. The Bradley Family welcomed their daughter, Railla, in 2005.

Deborah was elected to La Grange City Council and served for almost five years, served on the board of ARTS for Rural Texas and has authored four books.

“I am proud that La Grange, Texas is the home of the Texas Quilt Museum! It is the perfect community for such a lovely homage to women's history,” Bradley says.

“I cannot wait to share the legacy of quilting and how it has evolved with our incredible community and beyond. We have a lot of new plans, like Trick-or-Treat on The Square, and a FREE night at the Museum during Schmeckenfest, the annual wassail tasting and Christmas celebration. We are delighted to be on this year's commemorative Schmeckenfest tasting stein; which celebrates the Historic Reichert Building, home of the Texas Quilt Museum.”

She continues: “We are excited to share the incredible art quilt exhibits the Texas Quilt Museum has been known for, and fun new programs for kids like ‘Storytime with Santa’ and a Children's Discovery Exhibit, where kids will explore and learn all about the art of quilting. All are welcome here, and I look forward to meeting the many faces—both familiar and new—that grace the galleries of this wonderful place.”

The Texas Quilt Museum is located at 140 W. Colorado St., La Grange, Texas 78945. Hours are 10 am-4 pm Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays. For more information, visit www.TexasQuiltMuseum.org

The Museum also has an online store featuring fabrics, books, apparel, jewelry, shirts, cards, official Museum merchandise, and more unique gift items. Visit www.TexasQuiltMuseumStore.com to see what's on offer. Shipping to U.S. only.

Hello fellow quilters!

Bright Hopes needs you to craft twin sized quilts. Maybe you can grab a friend and work on it together! If you can't manage to complete a twin sized quilt, a finished throw or youth-sized quilt will also be acceptable.

We will try to provide batting for the quilts as indicated in the table below, so please adhere to the standard sizes listed. Twin quilts will have priority. If you have any batting you are not going to use, donating large sizes of batting would be most welcomed! Thank you, for all that you do! Because of you, the Greater San Antonio Quilt Guild has a reputation for outstanding community involvement. Let us keep that giving spirit going. Bright Hopes Committee.
